LIFE IS A CHALLENGE

POET: EDGAR A. GUEST

Life is a challenge to the bold,
It flings its gauntlet down
And bids us, if we seek for gold
    And glory and renown,
To come and take them from its store,
It will not meekly hand them o'er.

Life is a challenge all must meet,
    And nobly must we dare;
Its gold is tawdry when we cheat,
    Its fame a bitter snare
If it be stolen from life's clutch;
Men must be true to prosper much.

Life is a challenge and its laws
    Are rigid ones and stern;
The splendid joy of real applause
    Each man must nobly earn.
It makes us win its jewels rare,
But gives us paste, if we're unfair.

- The Sneetches by Dr. Seuss

Discrimination

What is mediocrity?

Who defines middle class?

Where did the umbra of humanity lose it's light and avoid the darkness

When were these decisions made?

Decisions as these were made long ago by men who did not understand

Now the decision lies in your hand

Do you believe the minds of weak and feeble men

Do you believe in equality in every single man

There is absolutely no curve

Only relativity in all things combined

Equality.

Jeff Rushton

- The Velveteen Rabbit by Margery Williams

Warm Of Heart

The tears burst my eyes when hopes becoming fatal

The pain of lost remain hidden but not been spoken

But all I want to reach up to you

My dearest man I love

My dearest man I love don't ever left me a scar of wound which the heart can't spoken

The tears drift my pains when breathing

When the tears becoming uneasy to hold on

When all I ever want to hold you with

The warm beneath my heart by loving you

I have love you so very pure transparent beneath the heart of my

Agony fades like unseen wind when you hold me in your embrace

I have no more pain but the warm of secure

Your my everything

The happiness there were with me

Putri Misnia Shary Bahri

- If You Give a Mouse a Cookie by Laura Numeroff

What I Learned In School

At school I've learned a lot of things
I really like to do, like running in the hallway
and eating gobs of glue.
I've learned I'm good at making pencils
dangle from my nose.
I've learned to hum and pop my gum.
I practice, and it grows.
I've learned how to cut in line and love to eat the cheese.
I've learned to fake a burp, a cough,
and even fake a sneeze.
You'd think with all this learning
I'd be doing well in school, but everything I learn to do seems to break a rule.
